

Photosynthesis is the process by which green plants convert light energy into chemical energy st